

What's the best way to find out specific information about my lot, or whether my plans need Conservation Commission review?

Visit the Conservation Commission office, or make an appointment with the Conservation Agent.

Often, we can email you site plans and information from old projects.